5. Cancellation, postponement or interruption of the training

i. By the client

Any cancellation must be communicated in writing.

For individuals and legal entities, in the event of cancellation, except in the cases listed in Article 6 hereof and in cases of force majeure, CEIPI-University of Strasbourg reserves the right to invoice the full price of the service.

If a client is a natural person undertaking the training action on an individual basis and at his own expense, he may withdraw from the contract within 14 days of signing it.

In the event of cancellation after the start of the service, absence, abandonment or non-performance of the planned training, the CEIPI- University of Strasbourg will invoice the client for the full price of the service.

In the particular cases of absence or abandonment of the participant leading to a reduction in the amount of the training costs covered by the planned company, the CEIPI-University of Strasbourg reserves the right to invoice to the participants the outstanding sums.

If abandonment is due to a case listed in Article 6 or to a case of force majeure, duly acknowledged and reported by the client by registered letter with acknowledgement of receipt, enclosing all relevant supporting documents, payment is due pro-rata for the hours of training provided by the CEIPI-University of Strasbourg up to the date of receipt of the letter.

ii. By the CEIPI-University of Strasbourg

The CEIPI-University of Strasbourg reserves the right to switch to entirely distance learning, postpone or cancel the training action, in particular in the event that the number of participants is insufficient to ensure the appropriate running of the training session. In this case, the client will be notified as soon as possible of such cancellation or postponement. No compensation can be paid to the client and, in any event, the reservation, travel and accommodation costs incurred cannot be reimbursed. Exceptionally and in the cases listed in Article 6 or in case of force majeure according to Article 6, the CEIPI-University of Strasbourg reserves the right:

- to replace the lecturers initially planned to provide the training action by others, guaranteeing training of identical quality
- in the event that the training cannot take place face-to-face under the planned conditions, to set up the training in accordance with appropriate arrangements, making it possible to meet the objectives set out in the training programme,
- to cancel the training.

In all these cases, no indemnity or compensation can be requested by the client.

In the event of partial completion of the training by the CEIPI-University of Strasbourg, the invoicing may be made on a prorata basis of the hours completed in relation to the number of hours planned.

6. Force majeure

The CEIPI-University of Strasbourg cannot be responsible if the failure to perform or the delay in performing one of its obligations described in the present agreement results from a case of force majeure, understood as any external, unforeseeable and uncontrollable event within the meaning of administrative jurisprudence. The following cases will also be considered exempt from liability: the illness or accident of a lecturer, strikes or social disputes within or outside the CEIPI-University of Strasbourg, natural disasters, fires, interruption of telecommunications or energy supply in the country of the training provider, interruption of transport of any kind, declared or undeclared war events, general labour strikes, epidemic and pandemic diseases, quarantine, fire, exceptional floods, accidents or other events beyond the control of both parties.

7. Effective registration date

Registration will be effective on receipt of the signed agreement.
If the completed and signed agreement is not returned, the financial obligations towards the University are de facto contracted at the end of the first day of attendance of the participant.
