

IP STRATEGY MANAGER

Dubai, United Arab Emirates

Established in 2015, Initio is an international medical device company redefining how people access clinical-grade health insights. Through the development of next-generation smart, multi-hormone diagnostic technologies, Initio is empowering thousands of people worldwide with deeper understanding of their health.

With rapid international expansion and strong investor backing, Initio is scaling fast. With this comes the need to appoint an experienced IP Strategy Manager to take ownership of the function, shape the company's growing portfolio, and ensure Initio's groundbreaking innovations are protected and positioned for maximum global impact. This role is an opportunity to:

Build and shape IP strategy within a leading Med-Tech company: This is a once-in-a-career opportunity to shape the intellectual property foundation of a diagnostics company. Join Initio to take full ownership of an already established IP portfolio and processes, shaping and scaling into a world-class function as the company further develops its product offering.

Influence across the business: Work closely with world-class experts, embedding IP strategy at the heart of a fast-moving organisation. You will anticipate challenges, guide colleagues at all levels, and foster an IP-aware culture, ensuring the portfolio protects Initio's breakthroughs and supports its mission.

Join an R&D-Driven Culture: Innovation isn't just a department - it's the engine of the business. You will work with world-class teams across Biosciences, Hardware, Software and AI to push diagnostic accuracy further than ever before. Within this collaborative, high-impact team, ambition, growth, and success are championed. With only a handful of competitors globally, Initio is uniquely positioned to lead the at-home diagnostics revolution; and you can be part of that trajectory.

This role calls for an experienced, commercially minded IP Strategy Manager with a strong educational foundation in a wide range of disciplines - of particular interest are the fields of Computer Science, Life Sciences, Physics, Medtech, or related fields. Initio is seeking a collaborative, confident, and driven individual to become a trusted partner across the business. If you are excited by the opportunity to shape IP within a pioneering diagnostics company, we would welcome the chance to hear from you.
